BRING YOUR EDC STUDY BUILD IN-HOUSE

One of the industry's most proven and time-tested digital solutions, Signant SmartSignals® Unified Platform EDC has been used in over 3,000 clinical trials over 30 years. One reason sponsors and CROs continue to rely on it as their EDC of choice is that it enables in-house teams to efficiently design their own EDC studies with minimal training and no coding skills required.

Why Choose Signant's Self-Service Option?

① Lower costs and reduce timelines for deploying or delivering a study.

② Design EDC studies your way and maintain full control of your implementation from start to finish

③ Our powerful designer, with its intuitive interfaces and customizable workflows, enables study teams to build their EDC systems via simple point-and-click and drag-and-drop features.

④ Reusable eCRFs, data models, and tabular page layouts accelerate the design process and lower the cost to deliver a completed study.

⑤ There's no downtime for mid-study changes and site-level versioning enhances change management.

⑥ Our standard Knowledge Transfer package provides all the training, guidance, and support study teams need to get started quickly and become self-reliant for EDC study builds.
